Rest assured Farming Smarter keeps contributions in southern Alberta. You can help us do amazing things that benefit you and our community!

BUILDING AND INSPIRING A CULTURE OF INNOVATION IN WESTERN CANADIAN AGRICULTURE

Farming Smarter exists to drive agriculture innovation at the farm level. We attract a community of passionate innovators and provide agronomic testing, scientific knowledge, and the right connections for them to succeed.

Innovation drives us, not profit. This makes us a trusted source for regional adaptation of profitable and resilient crops, cropping systems and agronomic practices. Farming Smarter instills a culture of innovation and takes a bottom-up approach that is gritty, practical, and achievable. As a flexible and responsive organization, we take chances, break the rules, and encourage failure so we can learn. We adapt and excel at innovation development and adoption. This is crucial to keep farmers competitive and viable in a complex and dynamic environment.

Innovators can rest easy knowing we scan the world for new and old ideas that may apply locally. When they turn to us, they are confident our information is grounded and relevant. We love agriculture and offer our community informative, safe, and enjoyable experiences. They feel part of a diverse community who enjoy learning, networking, and bouncing ideas off each other.

Innovation is hard and about long-term results. We invite anyone interested in agriculture innovation to work with us and together we can change the way people farm.

AGRONOMY RESEARCH PROGRAM

We change the way people farm through experimentation and collaboration

We deliver high quality, impactful & innovative agricultural research for western Canadian farmers.

This program leverages grants to deliver unbiased, science-based, and relevant knowledge from small plot research to drive innovation at the farm-level.

A typical year sees 30-50 trials in thousands of plots in three different areas of southern Alberta. We are experts and leaders in the adoption of novel and high-value specialty crops in western Canada. Hemp, quinoa, grain corn, sugar beets, and winter crops such as lentils, peas, durum, oats etc. are some of the most recent examples.

Its focus is agronomic management of crop production systems in southern Alberta. We evaluate and expand upon agronomic best management practices for established and novel crops. Our focus areas include how crop management practices affect soil health, carbon sequestration, nutrient use efficiency, and soil erosion.

KNOWLEDGE AND NETWORK PROGRAM

We change the way people farm with enriching and interactive learning experiences

Tap into the largest network of crop producers in southern Alberta. It is a large audience made up of people and farms in search of excellence through steady innovation. This network feeds back into our research projects through dialogue at events, one-on-one conversations, and activities that lead to bridge building between people.

This program reaches 1,000 people face to face each year through events and over 2,000 monthly with digital newsletters. Our team uses every available communication technology and tactic to keep everyone engaged in vibrant conversations. Our website information portal opens a world of opportunity to all our followers. Our site draws traffic from around the world to read, listen, and watch. Visitors sign up for live and virtual events and find local experts that open the door to explore innovation.

FIELD TESTED PROGRAM

We change the way people farm through grounded on-farm innovation

Bring us your idea to benefit crop production in southern Alberta and we'll help you take that idea to the finish line. We have the equipment, expertise, and attention to detail to get a product or practice proven in the fields and showcased to farmers and agronomists making crop production decisions. The program has a network of 30 active fields and a collective that seeks innovation at the farm level.

The program uses plot and on-farm research – design, implementation, consultation, and data analysis - to assure regional adaptation and adoption led by local involvement. It is a practical application of science to solve problems & grab opportunities within the industry.
